The Honourable the Speaker commanded the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod to proceed to the House of Commons and acquaint that House that:—

“It is the desire of the Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General that they attend him immediately in the Senate Chamber”.

The Commons withdrew,

The Honourable the Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General was pleased to retire.

The sitting of the Senate was resumed.

"If in the performance of those duties, I should at any time fall into error, I pray that the fault may be imputed to me, and not to the Commons, whose servant I am, and who, through me, the better to enable them to discharge their duty to their Queen and Country, humbly claim all their undoubted rights and privileges, especially that they may have freedom of speech in their debates, access to Your Excellency's person at all seasonable times, and that their proceedings may receive from Your Excellency the most favourable construction."

The Honourable the Speaker of the Senate answered:—

"Mr. Speaker,—I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor General to declare to you that he freely confides in the duty and attachment of the House of Commons to Her Majesty's Person and Government, and not doubting that their proceedings will be conducted with wisdom, temper and prudence, she grants, and upon all occasions will recognize and allow their constitutional privileges. I am commanded also to assure you that the Commons shall have ready access to His Excellency upon all seasonable occasions and that their proceedings, as well as your words and actions, will constantly receive from him the most favourable construction."

His Excellency the Governor General was then pleased to open the Session by a Gracious Speech to both Houses, as follows:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I welcome you to this first session of the twenty-fifth Parliament of Canada.

I know I speak for all Canadians when I say how pleased we were to have Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother with us again. Her warmth and charm have added to the loyalty and affection for the Crown and our Queen.

This Spring His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh spent several weeks here in connection with his Second Study Conference on the Human Consequences of the Changing Industrial Environment in the Commonwealth and Empire. Her Royal Highness The Princess Royal, during her stay in Canada last June, carried out her programme of engagements with simplicity and grace.

Canada has been honoured in the last few days by a visit from the President of Pakistan, His Excellency Ayub Khan, who accompanied my Prime Minister on his return from the Commonwealth Conference. We were happy to greet this distinguished leader of a great Commonwealth nation and to discuss with him matters of mutual interest.

Since we last met in this Chamber my wife and I have visited many parts of Canada and have received at Government House a great number of societies and organizations, including representatives of student groups and youth movements. We have been deeply impressed with the expressions of loyalty to the Crown by people in all walks of life.

The meeting of Commonwealth Prime Ministers just concluded has again provided an opportunity for frank discussions at the highest level and a demonstration of the close relationship which distinguishes this unique association of free nations. Canada joined in welcoming four new self-governing members of the Commonwealth—Sierra Leone, Tanganyika, Jamaica, and Trinidad and Tobago.

The Commonwealth Conference discussed Britain's negotiations with the European Economic Community and the economic and political implications for the Commonwealth and its members of possible British accession to the Community. Canada has a vital concern in these issues and the government will spare no effort to safeguard the interests of Canada while preserving the unity and strength of the Commonwealth as a whole.

Far-reaching changes are taking place in the trading relationships between nations and groups of nations. New opportunities are opening up for fruitful negotiations to reduce the barriers to trade on a general, non-discriminatory basis. My Government believes and has proposed that these important subjects should receive comprehensive consideration at a conference of representatives of like minded nations.

Canada has continued to play an increasingly effective role in international affairs. The division of Germany and the position of Berlin remain a source of friction despite continuing efforts to find a basis for a negotiated settlement. So long as the Communist powers continue actions that bring tension and distrust, Canada's defensive capability must be maintained both at home and on the frontiers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe and in the Atlantic.

The threat of war can be eliminated only by reaching effective international agreement on disarmament verified by means that inspire confidence. Canada will persist in its efforts to achieve this end.

Canadians have noted with satisfaction the establishment by the United Nations and the Food and Agriculture Organization, of a World Food Programme based on a proposal put forward by my Ministers. You will be asked to authorize a Canadian contribution to this programme.

My Government will ask you, as a significant step in rounding out the concept of Confederation, to consider a resolution to provide for the "repatriation" of the Constitution of Canada and to invite the concurrence of the provinces to this end.

As another means of making manifest the Canadian identity, my Government will invite the Provinces to a conference for consultation regarding the choice of a national flag and other national symbols.

Measures will be placed before you to provide for the division of the Northwest Territories into two territories, and to provide more self-government for the residents of that area as a step toward the ultimate creation of new Provinces in Canada's great North.

You will be requested to enact measures to give effect, with modifications, to certain of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Publications.

Legislation respecting the Senate will be introduced.

To ensure that the redistribution of electoral districts is made objectively and impartially, you will be asked to approve a bill to establish an independent commission to recommend redistribution.

A measure will be placed before you to establish an Indian Claims Commission to investigate claims on the part of various tribes and bands that certain of their rights have been restricted or abrogated, and to make recommendations for the equitable and final settlement of such claims.

Economic activity in Canada has moved ahead sharply. This strong advance has resulted in more than 200,000 new jobs during the past twelve months. The objective of my Government is to accelerate this pace of advance. This would mean the creation over the next five years of more than 1 million new jobs and a corresponding growth in gross national product and in production for both the export and domestic market, already at record levels.

Such high levels of activity have not prevented the emergence of foreign exchange difficulties similar to those which confronted Canada in crisis proportions in 1947, and to those which have affected other major trading nations more recently. In June my Government found it necessary to put into immediate effect a comprehensive programme to strengthen the country's exchange reserves. Since that time Canada's exchange reserves have increased substantially. It is my Government's firm intention to remove the import surcharges included in this programme as soon as circumstances permit.

My Government will continue to take positive, constructive measures to strengthen Canada's balance of international payments. The recently stabilized exchange rate for the Canadian dollar has greatly helped Canadian producers in all parts of Canada both in the domestic and export markets. The new exchange rate is contributing as well to a large expansion in the Canadian tourist industry, which has also been aided by joint efforts of the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Canada's development will continue to require imports of capital, and to this end my Government will maintain a climate in Canada hospitable to foreign investment.

As one of my Government's measures to develop the Canadian economy, maintain a high level of employment and strengthen the balance of payments, you will be asked to approve legislation establishing a National Economic Development Board. This Board would be broadly representative and would review and report upon the state of the economy and upon economic policies. It would also have the duty of recommending to the Government particular projects or measures which it considers would be in the interest of national development, including projects which may require direct governmental participation by way of financial aid or otherwise.

The objective of my Ministers is a balanced budget. This will require the exercise of restraint in respect of controllable spending and an increased concentration of available resources on essential national projects designed to ensure the expansion of the Canadian economy. Steps will be taken to improve further the efficiency of government operations. The report of the Royal Commission on Government Organization will be helpful in achieving this improvement of administration while maintaining the high status of the Canadian public service. A programme of economies in government expenditures will be reflected in the revised Estimates to be placed before you.

A Royal Commission has been established to review the whole field of federal taxation and its impact on the Canadian economy, and to recommend reforms and improvements.

The purposes of the fiscal measures to be placed before you at this Session will be the creation of better employment opportunities for the Canadian people, the promotion of a high rate of economic growth, the strengthening of Canada's balance of international payments and the maintenance of stability in prices. New budget measures will be introduced to provide further solutions to long-term problems.

My Ministers will re-introduce the resolutions submitted in the last Budget which had as its central purpose the encouragement of economic growth. This will include the production incentive provided to manufacturing and processing companies by cancelling one-half of the tax on the first $50,000 of taxable income arising from increased sales and one-quarter of the increased tax on any additional income arising from increased sales. It will also include the measure to grant to individuals and companies the right to charge petroleum drilling and exploration expenses against income from oil and gas production, and to permit certain expenditures made to acquire oil and gas rights to be deductible for tax purposes. The measure to allow a special tax credit in respect of provincial logging taxes will also be re-introduced in order to remove discrimination in the taxation of logging operations. Iron mining companies will be added to the list of companies which are exempt from the special tax on income earned in Canada by branches of non-resident corporations. The measure will also be re-introduced to increase by $50 per year the income tax deductions allowed for children.

My Government intends to press forward in co-operation with Canadian industry to secure a greater and more rapid application of science to industrial production. You will be asked to approve the new tax incentive announced in the last Budget for corporations undertaking increased expenditures on scientific research in Canada. Dramatic evidence of successful co-operation between Canadian science and industry has been given this week in the opening of Canada's first nuclear power generating station.

Canada's prosperity and growth must ultimately rest in large measure upon its exports. To achieve adequate export levels it will be necessary to increase further Canada's capacity to produce competitively and its ability to sell in export markets. The Government's industrial programmes are directed toward these ends. Its commercial policy negotiations have the objective of opening additional markets to Canadian producers in fair exchange for opportunities for others to sell in Canada. The vigorous campaign of export trade promotion will be expanded to enlarge the sales of Canadian products in foreign markets. You will be asked to provide the funds necessary for this increasing trade promotion work. Amendments to the Export Credits Insurance Act will also be placed before you, to double the insurance liability which the Corporation may assume and to improve the arrangements for long-term financing.

You will be asked to authorize the establishment of an Atlantic Development Board to advise on measures and projects that will promote the economic development of the Atlantic region of Canada.

Amendments will be requested in the Industrial Development Bank Act to enlarge still further this Bank's important role in national development.

The prosperity of agriculture remains essential to the well-being of the entire Canadian economy. Canada is blessed this year with very large crops of good quality, and export markets for Canadian agricultural products have been greatly enlarged.

My Ministers recognize that livestock is occupying a position of increasing importance in Canadian agriculture. They propose that a programme be instituted to ensure the availability of storage facilities and continuity of supplies of feed grain to match the expanding requirements for livestock production, particularly in the areas of British Columbia and Eastern Canada where supplies of feed grain are normally deficient.

The programme of rehabilitation and development of agricultural lands is proceeding actively and you will be asked to provide funds for it.

Legislation will be proposed to enlarge the funds of the Farm Credit Corporation, and allow greater flexibility in their use.

The need for training in agriculture and the present facilities have also been under review and as a sequel to these studies, a national conference on agricultural training is to be convened this fall.

The development and use of Canada's resources of energy must be a central feature of the programme for national economic growth. The twenty-fourth Parliament has laid the groundwork for this in the National Energy Board Act and in other measures.

It is hoped that arrangements will soon be completed that will make it possible to submit for your approval the Columbia River Treaty and the legislation required in Parliament to implement it.

The national oil policy introduced by the Government two years ago has brought about a gratifying increase in the production and sale of Canadian oil.

Studies will be continued, in co-operation with the provinces, in relation to the long distance high voltage transmission of electrical power and the development of potential sources of hydro-electric power with a view to the ultimate establishment of a national power grid, which will facilitate the orderly utilization of the hydro-electric potential of Canada in the interests of expanding Canadian development and progress. Discussions are in progress with the Government of Manitoba in respect to studies of the Nelson River system.

My Ministers have come to the conclusion that large scale, long-term contracts for the export of power surplus to Canada's needs, present and potential, should now be encouraged in order to expedite the development of major power projects in Canada which are too large to be supported by the domestic market. Such exports can also strengthen our balance of payments.

In recognition of the important role of transportation in the Canadian economy, you will be asked to approve measures to give effect to recommendations of the Royal Commission on Transportation which has now completed its comprehensive analysis of the Canadian railway problem. These changes are intended to remove the need for general horizontal freight rate increases which have borne so heavily in the past upon certain areas and groups of producers. You will also be asked to provide for an extension of the Freight Rates Reduction Act and the other interim railway subsidies provided by appropriation.

Amendments will be proposed to the Canada Shipping Act to preserve for Canadian vessels the coasting trade in the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes area. Funds will be requested to implement the programme of shipbuilding subsidies announced some months ago.

You will be asked to provide for the continuation of the Winter Works Programme to assist municipalities in meeting seasonal unemployment.

Far-reaching changes are taking place in manpower requirements in Canadian industries as a result of automation, other technological developments and world competitive pressures. A measure will be placed before you designed to assist employers, workers and their organizations in meeting the impact of industrial change.

My Government will also place before you legislation to provide safeguards against accidents and hazards in works and undertakings within the Federal fields of jurisdiction.

The Committee inquiring into matters relating to the Unemployment Insurance Fund is expected to submit its report this autumn. Following consideration of this report, appropriate measures will be placed before you.

In order to permit the introduction of a national system of contributory old age pensions with disability and survivor benefits, an amendment to the British North America Act is required. The governments of all provinces except Quebec and Newfoundland have concurred in such an amendment. My Government is prepared to recommend to you the approval of an Address to Her Majesty requesting the amendment when the concurrence of these remaining provinces has been received.

As pension plans have become ever more widely extended in Canadian business, it has been increasingly recognized that measures are essential to protect the interests of those affected and in particular to ensure that the benefits earned are portable when workers move from job to job. Provincial legislation would be required for this purpose in most cases, and several provinces are considering proposals of this nature. My Government will be prepared to place before you complementary legislation to deal with industries under Federal jurisdiction when adequate progress has been made by provinces.

A measure will be placed before you to authorize the establishment of a national council of welfare to make more fully effective the action of both Federal and Provincial Governments in this field.

You will be asked to approve amendments to the Food and Drugs Act to provide for more effective control of the distribution and sale of drugs in the interests of the public health.

You will be asked to enact legislation to provide for the establishment of a National Medical Research Council.

Legislation will be re-introduced to authorize the payment by Federal Crown Corporations of certain Provincial commodity taxes and fees.

Legislation will be proposed on university grants which will include authorization of payment of the higher grants announced some months ago and will provide alternative arrangements where supplementary provincial grants are made in lieu of Federal grants.

A Bill will be introduced to authorize a revision and codification of all Federal Statutes.

Bills will be introduced to amend the Judges Act, the Aeronautics Act, the Bankruptcy Act, the Coal Production Assistance Act and the Currency, Mint and Exchange Fund Act, and other statutes.

Members of the House of Commons,

You will be asked to appropriate the funds required to carry on the services and payments approved by Parliament.

You will be asked to abolish closure and to re-establish the special committee on procedure of the House.

REPORT OF THE PARLIAMENTARY LIBRARIAN

First session of the twenty-fifth Parliament, 1962

To the Honourable the Speaker of the Senate:

The Parliamentary Librarian has the honour to submit his report for the first eight months of the year 1962. The last report was presented to both Houses on January 18, 1962.

The Joint Committee met once during the last session, on March 13, 1962 to review Library matters.

The "Selected Additions List", issued twice a month to bring to the attention of Senators and Members a choice of recent books of special interest, was continued throughout the year. A revised edition of the leaflet "How the Library of Parliament can Help Senators and Members" will be distributed shortly.

From January 1 to August 31, 1962, our staff answered 2,540 reference questions and circulated 15,869 books and periodicals. During the same period, 13,892 volumes were catalogued and classified, which brings to 181,687 the number of volumes recatalogued since the fire of 1952.

On July 7, 1962 Mr. Frank W. Matley drowned on holidays. He had served the Library faithfully for over thirty years and will be greatly missed.

On February 26, 1962 Miss A. Pamela Hardisty, Assistant Director, Reference Services, National Library, was appointed Assistant Librarian by the Civil Service Commission, to replace Mr. R. M. Hamilton who left last year.

Senators and Members will be pleased to learn that it has now become possible to convert one of our offices into a quiet Study Room for their exclusive use.

Close co-operation has been maintained with the National Library both informally and through the National Library Advisory Council of which the Parliamentary Librarian is Secretary.

Mr. Guy Sylvestre, Associate Parliamentary Librarian, had the honour to serve as Chairman of the Committee for the Governor General's Literary Awards and continues to serve as vice-chairman of the Canadian Library Week Council.

In June the Parliamentary Librarian accepted appointment as correspondent for Canada on the Committee on Parliamentary and Administrative Libraries of the International Federation of Library Associations.

Respectfully submitted,

Erik J. Spicer
Parliamentary Librarian.

I. ORDER OF REFERENCE

The following resolution was adopted on February 7, 1962, by the Senate:

"That a Special Committee of the Senate be appointed to consider and report on land use in Canada and what should be done to ensure that our land resources are most effectively utilized for the benefit of the Canadian economy and the Canadian people, and, in particular, to increase agricultural production and the incomes of those engaged in it;

That the Committee be composed of the Honourable Senators Basha, Bois, Boucher, Buchanan, Cameron, Crerar, Emerson, Gladstone, Higgins, Hollett, Horner, Inman, Leonard, MacDonald, McDonald, McGrand, Methot, Molson, Pearson, Power, Smith (Kamloops), Smith (Queens-Shelburne), Stambaugh, Taylor (Norfolk), Taylor (Westmorland), Turgeon, Vaillancourt, Veniot, Wall and White;

That the Committee have power to send for persons, papers, and records, to sit during sittings and adjournments of the Senate, and to report from time to time;

That the evidence taken on the subject during the six preceding sessions be referred to the Committee."

A Steering Committee was appointed as follows: Honourable Senators Pearson, Stambaugh, Smith (Kamloops), Taylor (Westmorland), Taylor (Norfolk), and Vaillancourt.

Senator A. M. Pearson and Senator C. Vaillancourt were appointed chairman and vice-chairman, respectively.

II. COMMITTEE PROCEDURE

During the session a total of five meetings were held and eight witnesses were heard. There were 130 pages of evidence presented to your Committee.

The Committee directed and focussed its efforts towards the attainment of public interest and attention on the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, hereinafter called ARDA, by acting as a forum. Witnesses were requested to present briefs dealing with the basic land use, economic and social problems of their area, the institutional and organizational aspects involved in fostering local rural leadership and initiative, the stimulation of rural planning and development, and, in particular, the rehabilitation of low income areas. This course of action was taken with the view of assisting the Federal Government in starting the ARDA program through the free expression of improvement needs and proposals. The Committee was particularly concerned with the matter of ensuring the support and participation of rural citizens in the development of projects desired and needed by the people themselves. This is a very real extension problem and critical to the success of the Program in the long run. Your Committee feels that it can take much credit in placing the need for a rural resources development program before the Federal Government and can provide a service by following up on the action phase of the Program. The briefs were, therefore, devoted to a review of the organization and initial development stages of the ARDA program and its joint relationships in alternative land use, rural development and soil and water conservation activities with the provinces. Further briefs concerned the preparations of two provinces, one in Western Canada and the other in the Maritime Provinces, for co-ordinated and joint federal-provincial projects; the experience of a rural settlement organization; and the theoretical considerations pertaining to extension or education principles and administrative responsibilities or implications with respect to ARDA of a professional extension organization.

It was the intention of your Committee to call witnesses to describe the state and incidence of rural taxation in different parts of the country. This subject was recommended in the last report of the Committee (see proceedings No. 11, June 28, 1961—recommendation No. 5 (b)) as one of six specific problem areas singled out for research and study by the Committee. It was planned that the witnesses would outline the principles of rural taxation and assessments, the systems in use, the problems of inequity, the burden on real property and other problem phases of rural taxation. This would be preliminary to the conduct of basic research by technical persons employed by your Committee. This part of the agenda was not, however, undertaken.

The activities of your Committee in this session were largely confined to the promotion and maintenance of interest in the ARDA program in all its phases and ramifications. No recommendations were made by your Committee at this time. It is the hope of your Committee that the circulation of the proceedings will serve the purposes it had in mind of stimulation and motivation. The following sections present the highlights of the information submitted by the witnesses.

III. A PROGRESS REPORT OF THE EARLY STAGES OF THE ARDA PROGRAM

An oral submission was presented to your Committee by the Director of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, who had only been in office slightly over two months. He pointed out that the various kinds of programs and projects possible under the terms of the Act must be carried out jointly between the federal and provincial governments through specific project agreements. The actual physical arrangements of projects may be carried out jointly or the federal government may co-operate only through the provision of financial assistance. There is one area of activity provided in the Act in which joint federal-provincial financial cost-sharing is an exception and not mandatory. The federal government may conduct research strictly on its own as well as on a joint basis with the province.

It was explained that exploratory and informal meetings had been held with representatives of the provinces for the purpose of clarifying the objectives and basic aims of the legislation and to develop the policy on a joint co-operative basis in line with needs and desires of each government level. In most cases the provinces have already set up inter-departmental co-ordinating committees concerned with the kinds of projects possible under the legislation. Keen interest on behalf of the provinces was noted and a large number of projects and programs were proposed for consideration and agreement under the Act.

Project Proposals

With the help of these federal-provincial administrative discussions and the submissions of the provinces a federal policy statement on the application of the ARDA program within the next two or three years was being drawn up.

The kinds of projects proposed by the provinces were:

- (a) Section 2 of the Act—alternative use of land—in terms of maintaining land in some appropriate use, not idle or permitting abandonment
 - (1) projects to establish association, group or community pastures on lands considered to be submarginal or marginal for cultivation
 - (2) projects to establish pastures on individual farmer-owned marginal cropland
 - (3) projects to acquire marginal or other related lands for forestry purposes—provincial crown forests, municipal forests, county forests or other public forestry management areas
 - (4) projects to acquire marginal lands for assembly to lease to adjacent farmers for forestry purposes and promote establishment of diversified economic forest farm units
 - (5) projects for the acquisition and planting to trees of lands that are designated as marginal or submarginal agricultural lands
 - (6) projects to assist in the establishment and maintenance of farm woodlots, including assistance in planting, thinnings, access trails to woodlots, management, planning and other woodlot extension services
 - (7) projects to acquire marginal lands for recreational needs, particularly in areas close to large urban centres
 - (8) projects to acquire marginal lands for public shooting areas, wildlife management areas or to lease or acquire easements on such lands from farm owners for public use
- (b) Section 4 of the Act—soil and water conservation of good agricultural lands
 - (1) projects for the drainage of good arable farm lands
 - (2) projects for the protection of such lands from flooding, including dykes, main ditching systems, stream improvement, flood control dams
 - (3) projects for the supply of water for agricultural purposes, including water storage, dams and dugouts
 - (4) projects for shelter belts and other such soil erosion control measures
 - (5) projects for stone removal on good arable land, also grassing and terracing to prevent erosion
 - (6) projects to maintain water levels for stability of agricultural production and related flood control, wildlife and recreational purposes
 - (7) projects to provide for engineering studies, cost-benefit studies or other studies related to projects proposed in this section of the Act
- (c) Section 3 of the Act—rural development
 - (1) projects to establish rural development areas
 - (2) projects for pilot area studies
 - (i) studies of present land use and land capability for various purposes
 - (ii) studies of resource use or resource development opportunities for increasing income
 - (iii) studies of soil and water conservation project needs
 - (iv) rural sociological studies

- (v) agricultural economic studies including marketing, employment, labor, underemployment and vocational training needs
- (vi) studies of off-farm employment and industrial development opportunities

Some of the provinces suggested the above kinds of intensive pilot studies in rural development areas where low incomes are prevalent and in which local committees would be set up. The results of these studies will be presented to local committees in such a way as to be understood in devising appropriate projects to improve employment and income opportunities and living standards. It is hoped that blueprints or proposals for development of the particular area will emerge from the deliberations of these committees.

Through technical and financial facilities co-ordinated through ARDA, programs for the better use of land and improvement in use of good agricultural land by soil and water conservation measures will be applied. Technical and financial assistance will be focussed on local areas through an integrated attack on local economic development.

Organization and Co-ordination

A relatively small headquarters staff of ARDA was planned to direct, organize and co-ordinate the various existing agencies at the federal and provincial government levels. An interdepartmental co-ordinating committee at the federal level is planned to function at two levels, (1) at the Deputy Minister level to consider broad policy matters, and (2) at a senior officer working level to consider and appraise provincial program and project proposals and to advise on project execution.

It has been proposed that the P.F.R.A. organization in Western Canada and the M.M.R.A. organization in the Maritime Provinces form the operating arm of ARDA to deal with negotiations and joint inspection, and to carry out joint federal-provincial projects. At the time of the hearing there was considerable indication that they were taking an active interest in the development of the ARDA program. Under the terms of the Act the lines of communication with local areas and committees will be through the provincial co-ordinating body or its agents.

IV. ARDA-TYPE RURAL RESOURCE PROGRAMS IN TWO PROVINCES

(a) Rural Development Approach in Manitoba

The Rural Development Specialist for the Manitoba Department of Agriculture and Conservation dealt with ways and means of promoting positive thinking and action with respect to rural development in general and ARDA in particular in this Province. He considered that there were two broad approaches to rural development. The first of these was the liberal provision of capital in order to develop what really amounted to a completely new resource. The second alternative was a "bootstrap" approach whereby people are given assistance, primarily technical, in order to develop their resources. This is the basic extension philosophy of helping people to help themselves.

The general public is generally inclined to view a program, such as ARDA, as of the first type while public administrators tend to regard government assistance as technical help only. The types of programs to be developed under ARDA were suggested as falling between the two extreme categories. In addition to the provision of more technical assistance, development capital is needed. This development capital should not be government handouts in the form of a series of stop gap programs but rather funds for planned long range development of the resources at hand.

In dealing with rural development, it is unrealistic to try and solve the economic problems in a narrow setting of relatively small marginal or sub-marginal areas. These areas should be considered as a part of a larger region including other areas with more resources often non-agricultural, capable of development. Economic development can no longer be attained in terms of primary resources of agriculture, forestry, fisheries, etc. The utilization of these resources must be related to industrial development to permit wider employment and income opportunities.

Organization of an Interdepartmental Committee in 1961

An interdepartmental committee was set up in 1961 in Manitoba under the direction and guidance of the Minister of Agriculture to formulate a list of proposed ARDA projects. Two sub-categories composed of research and investigation projects and physical projects were proposed in each of the major categories of alternative land use, rural development and soil and water conservation.

Emphasis on Research

Since ARDA is primarily a long range, fundamental program a great deal of detailed information is required. Thus research projects in such fields as soil surveys, farm ownership, rural sociology and hydrology are needed to develop multiple use programs. A considerable amount of research work was at hand in these fields and the provincial committee felt able to propose action on several physical works, including a land purchase program in certain marginal areas, reorganization of certain currently marginal agricultural land into more effective agricultural use including livestock and expansion of the community pasture program. The provincial committee recognized a basic problem of underemployment in agriculture, especially in the marginal areas, and proposed an educational program in one area to retrain some of the people for non-farm employment.

To prepare the people in local rural areas for participation in the ARDA program, a one week course for 25 rural leaders was held to acquaint them with the details of the ARDA program, the general philosophy of rural development, and the application and implications on local community development. In one area an advisory committee of five local residents and five governmental representatives of major resource fields has been set up and is working toward the maximization of a long range program based on involvement of all local people.

Rural Development Through Industry, Business and Tourist Expansion

The activities of the regional development program under the Provincial Department of Industry and Commerce were described by the Director. This body has the broad objective of securing the proper development of the physical and human resources to provide the needs of the people through productive measures to put permanency and stability into the regional economy.

The concept of the regional development program in this province is consistent with the community development approach employed in the United States through the Rural Areas Development and the Area Redevelopment Administration Programs of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce, respectively. It also has similarity to the concepts of rural development which are implied in Section 3 of the Canadian ARDA Act. It is believed that the prime way to help in the development of rural and urban areas of the Province is through the introduction of secondary manufacturing and processing industries, business developments and tourism and recreation. The program is premised upon the initiation of self-help at the local level supplemented where feasible by government assistance per se in the role of a development promotion agency to interest out-of-province investors to establish in the Province. It depends upon close interdepartmental co-operation and partnership with local development agencies for economic progress and social improvement.

The first major step in the program to stimulate and assist regional development is the preparation by expert consultants employed by the government of a broad economic inventory and analysis of human and physical resources of a region. It concerns the extent of the region's resources, the significance of each resource, overall opportunities for economic growth, and particularly opportunities for industrial expansion in the broadest sense. The development opportunities recommended in these economic surveys involve agriculture, forestry, industry, business and tourism.

Local Development Organizations

The organization set up to enlist the co-operation of the people in the region is responsible for carrying the program forward. Conferences and workshops are held to present the facts of the economic survey, to give the local people an opportunity to present their views as to the development potentialities and to stimulate local leadership. This is followed by the completion of an evaluation form by the community. Four types of community surveys are used and are referred to as community data, drawing power, industrial impact, and industrial location. These are valuable and useful tools in promoting, stimulating and assisting industrial development.

Three kinds of local development organizations are found throughout the Province. Under the Companies Act as amended in 1958, community development corporations or quasi-public bodies can be formed to act as local development agencies. They are a formal and legal framework through which municipal leaders, farmers and businessmen can work together to solve common problems and assist in the initiation of industrial projects. In addition to their functions to publicize industrial opportunities, stimulate business and industrial expansion, provide information and make business contacts, the most important role is the power to raise funds to assist industrial establishment. This latter power has been employed recently in a number of cases to provide buildings for an industry, usually under a lease-purchase arrangement. The second kind of local development organization includes a chamber of commerce or a board of trade. Recently other organizations have been established, which are unincorporated, under the name of Civic Affairs or Development Committees. If these latter two bodies are successful in stimulating interest in retail or service commercial activities or tourist attraction or any kind of local development project, then a corporate body, as outlined above, is established. The third kind of local development organization which has grown up of late is an area development association. These associations are of a regional nature and include representatives from a relatively large number of rural and urban municipalities. They are comparable with area committees as envisaged under ARDA with various study sub-committees such as beef, swine, dairy, sheep, grain, special crops, allied agricultural industries, credit, linear programming and public information. Other non-agricultural committees include forestry, recreation, employment, and vocational training.

An important agency with respect to growth of industries and tourist facilities is the Provincial Development Fund. Its purpose is to provide financial assistance to new and existing manufacturing industries, tourist and recreational facilities and to community development corporations. While the source of funds of this agency is the provincial government, it is administered by an independent board of directors. It does not compete with banks or other private lending institutions but rather supplements their activities.

Another service of the Regional Development Branch is a town and rural planning service which provides technical information to municipalities and works directly with local planning commissions. This body helps local people to assess the community problems and formulate future plans for action to assure the best possible overall development of the area.

The experience in area economic development has met with far greater success when an effective development group has been set up. The common needs of every class of people in a community in terms of employment, industrial development, more income, municipal services, new development capital at the farm, processing and service industry level simplify the task of drawing the various segments of the community together through co-operative effort.

The Relationship of ARDA to the Provincial Regional Development Program

The relationship of ARDA to the regional development program is viewed as complementing each other and meshing perfectly. A major part of ARDA is concerned with the development, adjustment and use of natural and human resources upon which rural industrialization depends. Rural industrialization in an agriculturally-oriented province can be built upon a framework of raw agricultural products, adequate water supplies and under-employed farm people. The efforts of the Regional Development Branch are compatible with the economic and social aspirations of rural communities which can be aided and abetted further through ARDA. A key point with respect to assistance to local development committees is the provision of a sort of rural development specialist or regional co-ordinator, with experience in local involvement and motivation, access to technical knowledge of local resource use in agriculture and other industries, and ability to stimulate gainful employment in those kinds of production demanded by a maturing economy.

(b) Rural Development Launching Steps in Prince Edward Island

The early phases of the rural and community development program was outlined in a brief presented by the Director of Research of the Prince Edward Island Department of Industry and Natural Resources. The program became effective on January 1, 1961 and the launching steps were relatively simple. These were, (1) analysis of the physical economic and social conditions of the normal and natural regional boundaries coinciding with the existing regional high school areas centering on a key centre, (2) selection of a sponsoring group in each area, and (3) preparation of a list of institutions, organizations and leaders in agricultural, business and civic affairs active in each area. Invitations were sent to leaders and representatives of the area organizations to attend a meeting at which the overall provincial program was discussed. An opinion survey was then used to obtain some community and personal attitudes followed by a declaration of program agreement and support of the local participants.

Those attending the meeting were asked to pursue a study course, to take part in an area-wide survey of physical and human resources, and to serve on one of 18 different sub-committees in such fields as agriculture, fisheries, recreation, tourism, education, public health, small business, new industry, rural beautification, etc. Out of 150 people co-operating in the study course, 130 were graduated at a formal ceremony and about 70 per cent agreed to carry out all three steps. The remaining group were asked to bring an additional person to a group meeting at which the survey was initiated. The prime purpose of this survey was to investigate the physical and human resources mainly in terms of ideas, aspirations, hopes and needs; kinds of talents and skills; employment opportunities; training requirements. The survey returns justified the belief that people in local rural areas have worthwhile thoughts and ideas for the improvement and development of the local economy. The intent is to derive and set reasonable, sensible and practical long and short-range goals, specific fields of community activity and even to suggest project priorities.

Those in charge of the provincial resources development program have catalogued the provincial and federal technical experts from which scientific and technical knowledge and skills might be sought and made available to local groups. In this context and with respect to the ARDA program it was emphasized, first, that complete co-ordination of technical assistance between federal departments was essential as well as an understanding between the provincial and federal departments on the availability of technical people, and second, local and provincial groups were encouraged to refrain from appealing for financial assistance from the federal treasury only after every other possibility of local effort has been exhausted, or in the case of worthwhile projects when no known local solution exists.

After the provincial program got underway a forty-four man provincial development council was formed representing virtually every economic and social strata of the Province. Their duty is to counsel, to guide and direct the program.

Suggested Rural Development Guidelines

Several guidelines were suggested with regard to the administration of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act. These were as follows:

- (1) community and area development calls for a broad and carefully planned adult education effort. All development problems are basically a matter of adult education or extension concern.
- (2) the rural development phases of ARDA are so broad and so varied that operations at first should be instituted on a pilot basis.
- (3) the availability of federal technical help should be given very careful consideration. The creation of a federal extension service embracing field men and women with a background in agriculture and trained in organization, group dynamics and community action was believed to be essential by the witnesses.
- (4) a nationwide training program should be launched through the use of materials, radio, television and newspapers.
- (5) an urgent need for information on mechanics and operational plans of ARDA pertaining to kinds of specific projects and methods of determination and lines of communication.

V. THE EXPERIENCE OF A RURAL SETTLEMENT ORGANIZATION

A brief was presented to the Committee outlining the principles of Catholic social doctrine that a rural settlement organization is attempting to put into practical application. This rural settlement organization, La Societe Canadienne d'Etablissement Rural, resulted from study sessions held by a group of priests, laymen and sociologists in 1946, who held that some organization was needed to co-ordinate efforts to improve conditions in rural agricultural areas. The organization which emerged was composed of representatives of regional rural settlement societies, rural settlement credit unions, diocesan colonization societies, rural youth movements, agricultural associations and rural leaders. It carries on a program of disseminating information on rural life, of stimulating farm leadership and of inciting the development of a few pilot projects.

Reference was made to the position of the Catholic Church as outlined in the Encyclical issued by the Pope dealing with current rural problems. The problems of depressed economic sectors such as in agriculture, and of "under-developed regions such as are found not only from country to country but also within individual countries" constitute an important part of this Encyclical.

The Fundamental Problem in Rural Areas

The fundamental problem with regard to agriculture as a depressed sector of the economy was expressed as follows, first, how to proceed in order to reduce the relative disproportion in productive efficiency between the agricultural industry and the rest of the economy, secondly, what to do to raise the level of living of the rural farm population to that attained by city dwellers, and thirdly, how to assure that farmers can assert and develop their personalities and look to the future with confidence.

In light of the above conceptual problems, it was pointed out that the Senate Land Use Committee had demonstrated the necessity of renewing the local economies of the depressed or underdeveloped rural regions across Canada. Essential agreement was expressed the basic tenets of the ARDA program.

With respect to the federal legislation embodied in the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, a view was expressed in the brief that the rehabilitation and development aspects should first take into account the physical, social and economic conditions of individual regions and the resultant projects should be formulated and carried out on a regional level. This view meshes with the concept of the Senate Land Use Committee to utilize the community development approach entailing the tri-partite collaboration of the local units of government, the municipalities, as well as the federal and provincial governments. The basic question is, what do rural people want their government to do rather than, what the government should do to or for rural people?

Concern was expressed over the apparent unawareness and lack of the role of conservation in rural renewal programs by Canadians. The Societe supported a program of basic research, including social and demographic research, which would precede the launching of pilot projects and the fostering, encouragement and training of local leaders to the full extent of facilities in Canada.

Retention of the Family Farm Concept Urged

The retention of the belief in a closely-knit family-type farm was urged in this brief. The extension of this ideal situation to a 'community of persons' involving a number of farm units with a common interest and relationship was also proposed. This phenomenon of grouped individual family farms was carried further through reference to agricultural co-operatives, and it was suggested that this type of structure offered a more definite guarantee for the survival of the family farm than other forms of organization.

Need for More Farm Credit and Technical Information

Methods in agriculture are changing rapidly. Mechanization compels farmers to modernize involving increased investment. This underlines the need for more farm credit and more technical knowhow. More research in the area of farm management was urged as well as other related areas of estate management and family transfer arrangements. In these respects your Committee strongly concurs.

Based on the resettlement experience of farm families both as individual units and as a group, the Societe considered that present-day credit facilities were inadequate to satisfy the needs in the high risk marginal areas and suggested that ARDA should set up a rural development fund. This fund should first provide guarantees for the basic investment of private capital in the form of bonds or debentures to stimulate private investment, and secondly, provide interest rebates on farm loans for settlement, development and improvement, as in the case of Quebec Farm Loans Act, and provide government-approved regional and community processing plants for agricultural and forest products.

The establishment of local action co-operatives composed of all organizations, groups, businesses and local units of government in each church diocese was urged. This organization would put into practice the recommendations resulting from the research and planning groups. The experience of La Societe in fostering these developments suggests that if the two types of organization maintain close liaison, excellent co-ordination should result. This parent organization acts in the role of a co-ordinating and liaison agency between corresponding organizations in different parts of the country.

The publication of a loose-leaf Atlas of Rural Canada was recommended, which would contain precise scientific, social and economic data. These data should be made available to all concerned and constantly kept up to date.

VI. EXTENSION PRINCIPLES AND ADMINISTRATIVE IMPLICATIONS FOR ARDA

Three members of a professional organization, The Canadian Society of Rural Extension, having the objective of advancing the standards of research and education in rural extension in Canada and of encouraging professional improvement among extension workers presented a brief to the Committee.

The first part of the brief included comments on the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act and referred to it as a sound and timely program which provided a new focus and hope for the development of rural communities and introduced a co-operative approach to resource development among the different tiers of Government.

The New Extension Challenge

The philosophy and primary job of ARDA posed a great challenge to those engaged in extension activities. They considered that the purpose of ARDA is to stimulate change and adjustment and to bring about improvements in rural living.

While the duty of extension workers in the past has been to provide answers to individual farmer's production problems and to teach production and management skills, the new challenge is now primarily related to the establishment of goals, motivations and capacities for self-help projects of individuals and communities, and help to improve the character of whole communities. The fundamental principle of ARDA is to develop self-help programs in rural areas but the witnesses cautioned that activities should not be limited to purely agricultural possibilities.

This brief was organized along three lines, principles of extension, administrative responsibilities or implications of extension, and the way in which ARDA may fit into these principles and implications.

Principles of Extension

Nine principles of extension were outlined to the Committee. In brief summary these were as follows:

- (1) full cognizance must be taken of existing local organizations, institutions and agencies in order to deal effectively with people at the grass-roots level on a self-help basis.

- (2) to obtain interest, support and participation of the people, the objectives of any program must be clearly understood.
- (3) a well-directed extension or educational program is essential to bring about changes in knowledge, attitudes, skills and practices.
- (4) extension, which is the major channel of communication, should have full information on research findings, trends and rural needs to facilitate a two-way flow of information between research and the public.
- (5) a well-balanced extension program including production techniques, marketing, management, leadership development, youth work, community improvements and social and cultural interests, should be democratically developed and oriented to the needs of the community.
- (6) a good extension program should be long-range and be ready to meet anticipated problems.
- (7) the extension field staff should have a well-balanced training in the physical, biological and social sciences. It should be supported by competent subject-matter specialists.
- (8) there should be close association between researchers, administrators and extension personnel.
- (9) there should be research into the different types of organizations, teaching techniques and methods so as to evaluate and measure the achievements of the extension activities.

Administration Phases of Extension

In order to facilitate the administrative structure of an extension program, the objectives representing financial, social and cultural goals should be clearly defined. Also to minimize gaps and misunderstandings in the extension process, the roles, responsibilities and contributions of each participating agency should be clearly set down and accepted. Another important suggestion, which has been repeatedly impressed on the Committee by several witnesses, was the establishment of advisory committees. These committees would establish the local and regional needs of rural people and co-ordinate all community development. The proposed composition of these advisory committees would include representations from the local communities, extension agencies, research and teaching institutes and various levels of government. The provision of a high quality well-trained extension staff was regarded as necessary.

The real problem ahead in the ARDA program is the development of people, to interest and involve them, to raise their objectives, to change their farming practices and to use the available technical information. This is also the same challenge facing Extension. The objectives would be to broaden the scope of the ARDA program rather than restrict it to production-type projects. More information and research is needed on the factors associated with decision-making, planning programs and measuring achievements in order to apply the principles and administrative implications of extension to the ARDA program.

Extension Staff Requirements of ARDA

It was felt by the three witnesses of this professional organization that the assignment of additional duties of the ARDA program to the present provincial extension staffs was impossible with the current schedule of work. Two requirements must be met to implement the extension activities needed by ARDA, first, additional extension staff, and second, a concerned effort to upgrade the training of the present extension staff. All federal assistance to extension should be extended through the present provincial services. A strong plea was made by one of the witnesses for the provision of federal financial assistance for the training of extension personnel, community leaders and farmers along with other carefully-planned research and program projects. This would be the best means of achieving the objective of better rural living.

All which is respectfully submitted.

ARTHUR M. PEARSON,
Chairman.

SUMMARY

This report is a summary of the briefs presented to the Special Committee of the Senate on Land Use in Canada during the last session of Parliament. The objective of the Committee was to stimulate and promote the initiative and interest of administrators and local groups in the ARDA program, to get an insight into the progress and direction of economic development proposals in the provinces, and to study the critical role of rural extension and the organization of local area committees in the furtherance of this program. The briefs were directed to this end. Some of the highlights of the proceedings are noted here.

Preliminary plans and proposals under the ARDA program were presented to the Committee. Cost-sharing federal-provincial projects envisaged putting some rural lands to more productive use as well as soil and water conservation programs and general rural economic development. These are being incorporated into a three-year policy program. Some of the projects are viewed as pilot.

Witnesses from two provinces that have made a start on rural development programs stressed the need for detailed research and study in long-range planning; vocational agricultural training and training to upgrade the skills of farm people for off-farm jobs; development of soil and water resources through ARDA to facilitate efficient agricultural production and rural industrialization; and switching of submarginal cropland to more appropriate alternative uses such as grazing, forestry and recreation. The organization of local area committees was viewed as essential for sustained economic development of rural resources.

The availability of more farm credit and more technical information including farm business management for farmers was urged to enable the efficient operation of economic units. To this end a rural development fund, which would especially apply in high risk marginal areas, was proposed by a rural settlement society.

The role of the extension service and the individual extension worker was viewed as critical to the success of the ARDA program. It was believed that a new kind of rural development extension agent with a background in agriculture, trained in organization of community activities and group dynamics, ability to motivate and stimulate local leadership and action was needed. He should be backed by specialists with technical knowledge of resource use in agriculture and other industries to help rural residents organize and carry out the kinds of improvement projects which they desire.
